GlobalCom Information Services announces new appointments In line with Company Expansion

Singapore, 13 July 2006 – GlobalCom Information Services announces 2 new appointments as it takes a big step forward towards operationalization of its expansion plans.

Mr Lester Lee Siak Yeng has been appointed Principal Consultant of Supply Chain Management Programs, and Mr Andrew Lim Ming Jer will assume the position of Program Manager of New Initiatives.

Mr Lester Lee's portfolio will see him focused on training and consultancy services. Lester brings with him over 20 years of experiences from management portfolios over a wide range of multinational corporations. He is also an industry expert in Global Supply Chain end-to-end operations, and is especially adept in handling operations in cross-country environments, in particular the Chinese market.

Mr Andrew Lim has over 10 years of experiences in sales, including over 4 years in running successful ventures overseas. As part of his recent appointment as Program Manager of New Initiatives, Andrew is in charge of the company's venture into the VoIP telephony market. Andrew is currently focusing his efforts on pushing GlobalCom's IP Phone to IP phone services to the regional market. At the same time, Andrew is also keen to expand the company's offerings beyond just the PC-phone services, and is looking forward to proposing many new initiatives in the near future.

Both Lester and Andrew Lim expressed confidence in the market potential for these new services, and are eagerly looking forward to growing together with GlobalCom Information Services as it officially launches the Business Process Consultancy and Managed Services arms of the company.
